Home Computer Repairs

Sydney Home Computer Repairs have been repairing computers and software for over 15 years. It began with Windows for Workgroups 3.1 (1993) and has been on-going ever since.

We have completed thousands of successful installations and repairs on every type of computer imaginable covering every version of windows released to date. To compliment our technical knowledge, we have a massive software database at your disposal to help get things running again.

Web-site Development

All of our website packages are tailored to suit your particular business and personal taste.

They all include full search engine submission and keyword optimisation to create a competitive on-line presence in your target market.

Graphics, flash video's, animations and built-in email functionality are all inclusive where it improves and compliments the site.

Networking & Connectivity

KISS Keep - It - Simple - Silly...

Home and Small Business networking is not meant to be that hard.

Keep it simple, keep it basic, and let the computers do the work for you - that's what they are made for.

We specialise in connectivity via wireless and hardwired networks, including home networking, portable devices, media connectivity and sharing throughout your household and small business server setups.

New & Custom Built PC's

At SHCR, we build custom made computers for gamers, personal usage and small business.

More often than not, we are able to build PC's, fully loaded and installed with software, ready to go, cheaper than retail stores.

We always build PC's that give you room to grow your business or interests without the need for constant upgrading.

Sydney Home Computer Repairs

At Sydney Home Computer Repairs, we have been repairing, re-building and re-installing computers and software since 1993.

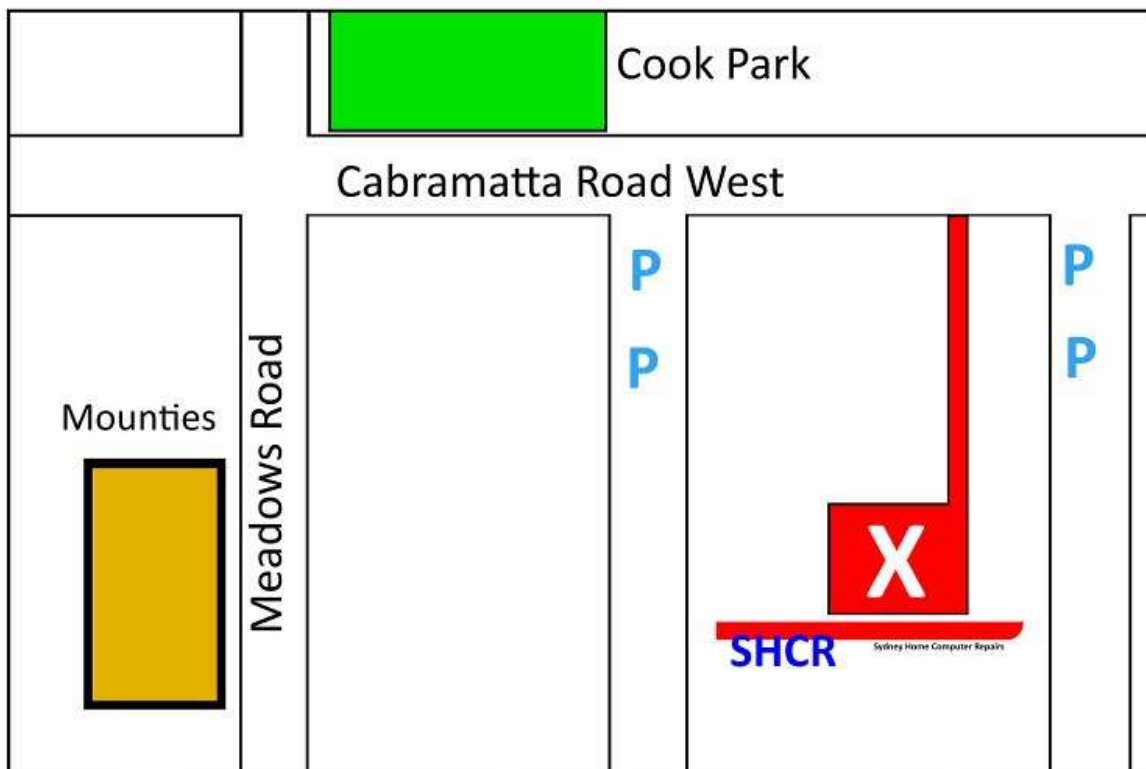

From 'Windows for Work Groups 3.1' to 'Vista Ultimate Edition' and 'Windows Server 2003' - and every released edition in between.

We operate outside of normal business so as to make ourselves more accessible to you, and to be able to provide on-going support during the times when we can actually be in front of the computers we are trying to fix.
